

Grading Policy

1. Students will be graded on quizzes, tests, projects, writing pieces, and assignments that are labeled "to be graded".
2. Tests, projects, and extended writing pieces will count twice when calculating an average.
3. Quizzes, "to be graded" assignments, and on demand writing will count once when calculating an average.
4. Any quizzes, tests, projects, writing pieces, and assignments that are labeled "to be graded" can be handed in 5 school days past their due date with no penalty. After 5 school days the missing assignments will be considered late and receive a 50%.
5. A homework grade will also be given, if work is completed completely and effort is noticeable the assignment will be considered 100% and a grade of 100% will be added to the Homework Section of the grade book. *The assignment can be completed 5 days after the due date, if the assignment is past 5 days it will receive a 50%.

Homework Policy

- During solely remote learning (From home or another location) homework will not be given.
- During hybrid learning (two days in school, 3 days home or another location) students may receive work to complete at home. For example: completing math assignments or a writing piece.
- When the hybrid model goes into affect Wednesday can be used as a homework/help day. Various meetings can be scheduled to help with a given topic.
- Some Math homework assignments may be given daily.
- A homework grade will also be given, if work is completed completely and effort is noticeable the assignment will be considered 100% and a grade of 100% will be added to the Homework Section of the grade book. *Missing assignments can be completed 5 days after the due date, if the assignment is past 5 days late it will receive a 50%.